DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Alexander(US 6,732,331).

Claims 1,5: Alexander disclose a subscriber subscribing to a datatype, the datatype having a predetermined runtime property that restricts use of the datatype, the datatype being associated with a data referenced in the datatype and maintained separate from the datatype in (fig.1;col.6,lines 23-27).

Alexander disclose receiving the datatype responsive to the subscription;determining whether the runtime properties are valid and if the runtime properties are valid (fig.1 and col.5,lines 1-5), determining whether a user of the subscriber has permission to access the data referenced in the datatype and if the user has permission to access the data, providing the user access to the data in (col.4,lines 57-63).

Claims 2,6: Alexander discloses wherein the runtime property is stored in a metadata of the datatype in (col.6,lines 24-27).

Claims 3,7: Alexander discloses wherein the runtime property relates to the data in (col.6,lines 24-37).

Claim 4,8: Alexander disclose step of determining whether the user has permission to access the data comprises determining whether the user is a registered user in (fig.1#22 and col.5,lines 1-5).

Claims 9,10: Alexander disclose a memory having a program that subscribes a subscriber to a datatype, the datatype having a predetermined runtime property that restricts use the datatype, the
